Kale Connerty

Information Officer

Kale Connerty began working for NEIWPC as an Information Officer in November 2018 and serves in three divisions. In the Wastewater and Onsite Systems division, Ms. Connerty helps coordinate the Youth and the Environment Program, specialty training courses, webinars, and conferences and assists with the marketing and distribution of our semi-annual training catalog. In the Water Quality division, Ms. Connerty assists staff with place-based divisional work, meeting and conference support, communication tasks, and short-term research projects. In Communications and Outreach, she writes content for NEIWPC's annual report, writes and edits articles for NEIWPC's magazine and e-newsletter and contributes content to the NEIWPC website and social media sites.

Ms. Connerty originally joined NEIWPC in June 2018 as the Youth and the Environment Program Coordinator in the Wastewater division. Starting in September 2018, she continued interning at NEIWPC in the Wastewater and Communications divisions before transitioning to a full-time position.

Ms. Connerty holds a bachelor's degree in English with a minor in Climate Change and Sustainability and a minor in Spanish from the University of Massachusetts, Lowell. Before joining NEIWPC, Ms. Connerty worked as a communications intern for a humanitarian nonprofit and was a student research fellow for the Thoreau Institute at Walden Woods Project. As a student at UMass Lowell, she also served as project lead for an environmental lecture series and helped curate an archives collection on Southeast Asian refugees in Lowell.
